Topic:

Understanding Generational Differences in Communication

Presented by:

Jill Gafner Livingston

Material reviews the changes in communication styles that we might typically see in the last 50 years. Fun facts, including newest communicating devices, most popular words, dress codes and more will show consistent changes in communication used by each generation. This information is valuable for those trying to motivate, hire, or train their workforce. Ideal for team leads, supervisors, managers and influencers. We currently have 4 generations employed at the same time.... trying to manage a diverse aging team can be complicated.
